

Eternity and infinity cannot be measured.

*This reduces the concepts of “is”, “was”
and “will be” as well as those of “here” and “there” to a drifting relativity.*

Science and mathematics easily confirm that, without a point of reference, only relative measurement is possible.

Eternity and infinity having no limits, edges of time and space do not exist, nor can time nor space therefore have a reference point other than in our consciousness.

So where do time and space exist but there?
