

..... “them” and “us”

Precious little else shows a dearth of intellect as does the eternal wont of individuals to separate themselves from the rest of humanity by the “them” and “us” projection.

The “us” part of the formula remains fairly constant as it generally defines the comfort zone of the individual making the designation, quietly but clearly underscoring that individual’s perceptions, biases especially included, of others on the planet, and, by logical extension, in the universe.

Anyone outside of that comfort zone becomes “them”.

And, sadly, the world spins on that axis!
