

The Test

The evening is just about over,
We've gone well into the night
The day had its joys and its sorrows,
Its hours of tears and delight

All we've done's now behind us
It now matters not, wrong or right
What yet remains ere tomorrow,
And for someone to turn off the light

The light that has so kindly led us,
Through this life's wonders and woes
Yet surely will still illumine,
Our paths to their very close

So walk with me yet, brother
Let's stop but a while just to rest
Give me your hand, and your blessing
It seems we've done well in the test

The test that was laid out before us
While we were yet cradled and young
But we bravely lifted our voices
To sing all the lines of our song
